WILL JESUS FIND FAITH?

By: John McGiffin

In Luke 18, we read of a persistent widow seeking justice. She never waned. She had faith that justice would be done. Eventually, the judge heard her lest she weary him (verse 5). Then the question is posed in verse 8, "When the Son of Man comes, will He really find faith on the earth?"

We know that Jesus will come again (Acts 1:11). Everyone will know when that time occurs. There will be no secret rapture. There will not be silence. It will be glorious with the shout of angels (Matthew 25:31; 1 Thessalonians 4:16). All will be able to witness this grand event.

There will be a moment of separation. The sheep will be divided from the goats (Matthew 25:34). Some will be welcomed, and some will hear the words "Depart from me...into everlasting fire (Matthew 25:41).

The question posed is simple but deep. When Christ does come again, what will He find? Luke is not asking if churches will exist. He is not asking whether people claim to believe in Him or are spiritual. He is not asking whether religious organizations will be ceremoniously and ritualistically "worshipping". He is asking if there will be any that displays and has true faith. Is there anyone who has endured to the end in obedience, trust, and walking in the Light?

The story reflects that enduring faith is rare. It is easy to believe when things are going well. It is when you have to continue prayers as they seem to go unanswered, and life grows dim. It is a faith that endures through the delay, doubt, and difficulties.

The faith we need today is a faith that worships even when it costs us (Hebrews 11:4). It is a faith that walks with God when the world mocks Him and us (Hebrews 11:5). It is a faith that builds an ark before the rain falls (Hebrews 11:7). It is a faith that leaves comfort for calling (Hebrews 11:8). It is a faith that waits patiently, sees the invisible, and welcomes the promises from afar (Hebrews 11:13). Will He find this faith in us? (Adapted from Dan Winkler 2024).
